1. In order to afford our people the opportunity to profit from the exposure and the insights that can be gained from a high-level conference, such as the annual convention of the International Association for Educational Assessment announced in MEC Memorandum No. 55, s. 1981, it is urged that the most senior officials who are assessment-oriented and/or those who are actually engaged in assessment, research, and evaluation participate in the convention. Their participation will be on official time.
